

Forty Years Old

But Rockland Lodge of Elks Is Not An Osler Victim

Rockland Lodge of Elks observed its 40th anniversary Tuesday night with a supper and special music. Arrangements were carried out by Robert Brewer, chairman of the entertainment committee.

Richard R. Reed, Commissioner of Sea and Shore Fisheries, was initiated into the club, together with George Hamlin and Gerald McPhee. Past Exalted Ruler Almon P. Richardson told of the ceremony of burning the mortgage on the property during the period of his office, on the original purchase. Judge Elisha W. Pike likewise told of the burning of the second mortgage which arose from the fire of 1939, and which took place in 1943.

The only charter member of the club present at the meeting was Blanchard Smith. Three others, Eugene M. O'Neil, E. B. McAllister and George W. Bachelder who still survive, were not present.

City Clerk Gerald U. Margeson has been appointed notary public.

Reopened For Bids

Statens of the Ash Point Airport—Three Groups Are "Biting"

Falling on Monday to receive bids on the operation of the Ash Point Airport, the City Council in a special session, Tuesday night, decided to reopen the bids as of today, with the time of opening being set as 11 a. m. of Friday, March 8.

Prompted largely, perhaps, by a group headed by Jack Dodge of Rockland and William O'Dwyer of Hasbuck, N. J., who are ready to operate the field and who failed to bid through misunderstanding. This group had previously submitted a proposal in writing to the Council and announced that they were ready to prove financial responsibility.

A second group which does wish to operate the field, states that it stands ready to immediately lease landing and field rights of the contractors for a freight line it is to establish. This group has planes and personnel ready for operation and hopes to start in the late Spring.

A third group seeks sales and service rights for small planes and possible charter service from the field.

At present, the field is in a surplus status which will bring release to the city by the Navy upon application by the Manager and Council.

FIRE AT THE LEGION HALL

But This One Was a Glorious Event, Burning of the Post's Mortgage

Members of Winslow-Holbrook-Merritt Post, American Legion, reached the objective for which they had been striving for 27 years, last night, when in a simple but impressive ceremony Commander Gardner French and Past Commander Edward C. Moran, Jr., burned the mortgage on the building; each igniting the paper from opposite sides at the same moment.

Principal speaker at the affair at which Legion members, guests, and their families were present, was State Adjutant James Boyle. He is the senior State Adjutant in point of service in the United States. His message was directed largely to the veterans of World War 2 whom he said should take over the Legion, run it as they saw fit, but be ever mindful of the responsibilities of the organization to the veteran and nation.

He compared the situation with the veteran coming out of this war and those of 1918, telling of the struggle to enact legislation favorable to the veteran and the eventual establishment of hospitals for both service and non-service connected disabilities.

The fight still goes on, he said, with the Veterans' Bureau taking evasive action as to establishment of new hospitals or the taking over of Army or Navy institutions for veterans' use. He welcomed the World War 2 veteran to the forces which are charged by their constitution to continue the battle for better conditions for the veteran, and at the same time warned them that it is a never ending battle which must be carried on as long as there are veterans in need of Federal care.

Early in the meeting, Commander French directed Master at Arms Lawrence Hamlin to escort Comrade Joseph W. Robinson to the front where he was presented with a gold Legion lapel button in appreciation of his services as treasurer of the building corporation. Mr. Robinson thanked the members of the Legion and those people of the city who held the building bonds for their faith in the group and those who worked unceasingly to reduce the debt over the past several years. Mrs. Ray Foley sang the national anthem at the opening of the meeting and closed with "God Bless America."

Master of Ceremonies Donald L. Kelsey introduced the past commanders who were present and read the names of those deceased or absent by reason of having moved from this section. First was Edward C. Moran, Jr., who is senior living past commander of the post. He told of the original meeting place in the Grand Army hall and the establishing of the post as No. 1 in the State. Pointing out that the post is now the largest in membership in its history and is in an excellent position to carry on its

Build New Theatre

Contract For Proposed Rockland Structure Said To Have Been Awarded

The Courier-Gazette learns unofficially that J. J. Conviser of Boston has been awarded the contract for building Rockland's new theatre. Work will begin as soon as conditions permit.

Conviser has long done work for the Paramount theaters and has a very fine reputation as a contractor.

Some of his workmanship in the past has found it way into repairs and alterations on Strand and Park theatres.

NEW POLICE OFFICER

The second new officer in two days in the Rockland Police Department was this morning appointed by City Manager Farnsworth in the person of John McPherson, 21, of 11 Cedar street.

Only recently discharged from the Marine Corps, he is a native of and lived before the war in Baltimore. He is married to the former Dorothy Tibbets of Rockland and they have one child. He will enter upon his duties immediately, under the usual six months probationary period.

service to the veteran, community and nation.

The history of the post was delivered by Past National Vice Commander Hector G. Staples who touched briefly upon all the outstanding points of the post's history since its forming on May 9, 1919 and its first meeting on Dec. 5, 1919.

Charter members of the post were: Walter H. Butler, Edward C. Moran, Jr., Joseph W. Robinson, Adelbert L. Miles, Edwin S. Meserve, Hyman Alperin, Austin T. Philbrook, Charles S. Alperin, Charles A. Rose, Jr., Herbert A. Philbrook, Milton M. Griffin, Ralph A. Smith, James H. Pettie, Fred E. Jones, Fred Carini.

The post was named in honor of Arthur E. Winslow and Lieut. Albert D. Holbrook who were the first Rockland men to make the supreme sacrifice in World War I. On Nov. 8, 1945, the name of Lieut. (Continued on Page Two)

"Record Qualifies Me"

Gov. Hildreth Seeking a Re-nomination Gives Reasons For So Urging

Gov. Horace Hildreth has announced that he will be a candidate for re-election by seeking the Republican nomination for Governor at the Primaries, June 17. The Governor's statement follows: "I am seeking re-election because I believe that the record of my administration qualifies me for a second term."

"During the present administration, for example, the biennium budget was balanced without the imposition of any additional taxes; the minimum salaries of our underpaid teachers were increased from $720 to $1,000; a long overdue anti-pollution stream and river program was inaugurated; the State's bonded indebtedness was reduced to the lowest it has been in 18 years; major labor and agricultural legislation was enacted; another million dollars was added to the State's Postwar Public Works Reserve; and a half-million dollars was appropriated to combat Bang's disease."

"In veterans' matters we are spending at the rate of more than $500,000 a year on our State Veterans' Program, which, by design, does not compete with but supplements the Federal G. I. Bill of Rights. This program includes financial assistance to the dependents of veterans who are either deceased, disabled, or ill; vocational rehabilitation for veterans with non-service connected disabilities; aid to the orphans of veterans; and a new State agency of Veterans' Affairs which assists in advising veterans and community agencies."

Beyond that I have recommended the raising of from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 for other veterans benefits. These benefits may include either a cash bonus, a State revolving fund from which a veteran could borrow, a trust fund from which the income would be distributed under the so-called "Nebraska Plan," or a combination of a cash bonus and either the "Nebraska Plan" or the revolving fund.

"In seeking the customary second term as Governor of Maine, I pledge a continuation of the same business-like methods which I have insisted upon during my present administration. If nominated and re-elected, I shall continue to serve all of the people of Maine in a progressive manner, but with firm adherence to the principles of democracy upon which this nation was founded."

A New Patrolman

Edward R. Noyes Graduate Of Rockport High Is Appointed

Edward R. Noyes, 25, Lake avenue has been appointed to the Police Department as patrolman.

Noyes, at present employed as a welder at the Bath Iron Works, is a veteran of Naval Service as a Radarman third class in the Mediterranean Theatre. He is a graduate of Rockport High School in the class of 1938, is married and has two children.

The appointment is for the usual six months probationary period, after which if properly qualified, he will be appointed to the regular establishment.

The City Will Pay

Patrolmen Hereafter Will Be Garbed At Municipal Expense

Rockland's police force will soon appear in new uniforms of a design selected by City Manager Farnsworth and Police Chief Jesse Linscott, and at the city's expense. In the past, police officers have bought their own uniforms with the design being more or less by mutual agreement rather than any regulation of the department.

With the change of city government, all witness fees of police officers appearing in Municipal Court reverted to the city treasurer. In fees to buy their uniforms.

Discussion of the situation has been going on peacefully for some time, resulting in the Council's decision to supply the uniforms and equipment for all police officers, from city funds. The opinion is that while the initial cost will be heavy, that the cost of replacement over a period of years will be favorably balanced by the income from court fees.

Items which the city will furnish are, uniform coat with Summer and Winter trousers, Winter and Summer caps with waterproof covers for the same, raincoat, belt, holster, sidearms and ammunition, club handcuffs and badges.

There is a possibility that the uniforms will be similar to those worn by the New York City department and carry a stripe of contrasting color along the outer seam of each pant leg. Grey shirts, such as used by Navy and Coast Guard for officers and Chief Petty Officer will be worn with black ties.

City Parking Lot

Conditions in Rockland Show Immediate Need Of One

The immediate need for a city parking lot, properly arranged in a location convenient to the business district and policed has been recognized officially by the City Council, and Councilman Osgood Gilbert has been appointed to investigate and make recommendations.

Many ideas have been voiced by various persons but the project is new to the Council, officially, and will require considerable study of traffic conditions.

With the city growing as it is and promises to grow within the next few years, a long range traffic program will be needed.

The Black Cat

(By The Roving Reporter)

The atmosphere has some peculiarities. For instance on Tuesday night with the wind blowing from the northeast, I heard the White Head fog whistle for the first time this Winter, and it was much clearer than the Rockland Breakwater whistle right out in my front doorway. The White Head siren lulled me to sleep—after a long time.

I have several times paid my respects to the author of "Let It Snow, Let It Snow, Let It Snow," whom I have placed in the nuisance category along with that radio announcer who told us all the Fall that it was "going to be a mighty cold Winter." Now if somebody will compose a song entitled "Let Us Shovel, Let Us Shovel, Let Us Shovel," the ban on profanity will be lifted high and wide. There's such a thing as crowding the mourners.

You can't keep a good man down, Sam Sezak for instance. The former Rockland High School coach has had another successful season with his University of Maine Jayvees, and is aiming at the mythical State title. Don't know anybody we'd rather see win it.

We have now reached the military month, March!

E. H. Philbrick was undismayed by the board problem with which L. E. Wardwell of Camden, confronted him. He says that the board is 13 x 11 inches and contains 143 square inches. "Now," says he, "I will saw a strip off the 13-inch side, 13 inches long and add the piece to the 11-inch side, making a 12 x 12 square—144 inches. And the inch I have left makes 145 square inches where we had 143—the best I can do." Mr. Wardwell has left on The Black Cat's desk his own diagram illustrating the problem, and it is open, to the view of Mr. Philbrick or any other person who likes to crack nuts of this sort. Meantime Mr. Philbrick wants Mr. Wardwell to tell him how many feet the dog ran before he caught the fox.

A well known letter carrier has a well known umbrella. Left it somewhere yesterday, and later in the day found it propped up against a mail box. The honesty of the finder is equalled only by that of the passers-by.

Names which were prominent in Rockland affairs back in the Sixties crop up in connection with the eleventh annual levee and ball of the Dirigo Engine Company. The event was to take place Feb. 14. (Continued on Page Six)

Basketball Battles

Rockland High Closes Fine Season With a Smashing Victory

(By Leo Connellan)

Rockland High ended its season resoundingly by beating Lincoln Academy in Damariscotta Wednesday night by a score of 58 to 21. Rockland's stars were its entire "first twelve" all of whom contributed to this decisive win.

Kelsey with 24 points and Murgita with 10 points paced the Tiger five and easily secured their win on this night.

Rockland's team work and high grade of play were as noticeable as in early games, such as the one played with Cony in Augusta. Bidding farewell to this season's basketball team, the fans may well rest assured that next season nothing but success waits, as this same squad to the man is returning.

WHY HE ADVERTISED

For seven weeks a farmer who had recently moved into the community advertised a team for sale in the weekly paper, then came into the newspaper office to pay his bill. "Did you sell the team?" I inquired as I took his money.

"No," was his reply.

"Do you want to try again?"

"Keep her goin'," the farmer said. "I've had lots of chances to sell that team, but I ain't got any such idee. I like horses and I like to talk about them. I came here a stranger and I put that ad in so horsemen would come out and look at the team and talk about horses. That little ad has got me acquainted with dozens of horsemen around here. Keep her goin'."

The first extensive use of natural gas was at Fairview, Pa.

[EDITORIAL]

ASKS FOR A SECOND TERM

The announcement elsewhere in this issue that Gov. Horace A. Hildreth will seek a renomination in the June primaries will doubtless receive a hearty "amen" from his friends and supporters, who point to the unchanging custom of the Republican party in giving a second term to an official who has given honest and earnest service. And Gov. Hildreth need have said nothing further in his announcement than the sentiment contained in his opening paragraph—

"I am seeking re-election because I believe that the record of my administration qualifies me for a second term."

Not a loud, brazen statement, unbalanced by facts, but one which Gov. Hildreth and his officials stand ready to prove by the books.

Ex-Senator Roy L. Fernald is apparently to enter the contest for a fourth time, and it is his undeniable right. Again he will have the support of those who believe in his ability and his frankly expressed policies. From the standpoint of a neutral agency, but a frank admirer of Gov. Hildreth's efforts, we are content to abide by the result.

The Gallup poll conducted two and one-half years in advance of the Presidential election, shows that President Truman has lost considerable of his popularity in recent months, but is still the overwhelming choice of the Democrats for renomination. His percentage of the Democratic vote is 67 in contrast to 79 percent registered for Roosevelt in advance of the 1944 National election. On the Republican side of the house Gov. Dewey still leads, but with only 38 percent. The present runner-up is Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota, who has 27 percent. Although many believe that ex-Gov. Bricker will be the Republican nominee, our hunch is that Stassen will be the man to watch.

TRUMAN LOSING GROUND

South American stores are overflowing with cotton goods made in this country, while our own shelves are bare and farmers refuse to work for lack of overalls.

We have had some very doubtful experiences in the course of our "good will" experiments in South America, but if they are being conducted wholly at the expense of our own people it is time that some of our statesmen got up on their hind feet to venture a protest.

ANOTHER FEDERAL MYSTERY

The appointment of Julius Albert Krug to succeed Harold L. Ickes as Secretary of the Interior was a bit disappointing to some Westerners, who had a candidate of their own, but on the whole is said to have given very general satisfaction. And this must be very gratifying to President Truman who is being panned right and left for his insistence that Edwin M. Pauley be made Undersecretary of the Navy.

QUICK ACT SAVED PROPERTY

That was a bit of quick and clever thinking on the part of that Scarborough man who drove a town plow through a burning shed, demolishing the blazing structure and saving the house and barn.

The Boy Scouts with all of their intensive instruction couldn't have thought up a better way of saving the property.

IT'S A CASE OF NOW OR NEVER

All the important military legislation—on unification, compulsory training, extension of selective service, control of atomic energy—still sleeps in the anguished committee rooms, and we are left not only without a basic military policy but without even any reasonable assurance that the committees, when finally they produce, will yield anything more than the chaotic and contradictory fragments of a basic policy. Yet, the long Pearl Harbor inquiry has wound to its end, monumentally proving, if it proved anything, how difficult it was in 1940-41 for this nation to improvise a defense in the absence of any sound and soundly co-ordinated basic military policy; while everything conspires to suggest that in the complex and unpredictable future it would be next to impossible.

We thought ourselves lucky, as the tensions rose in the fall of 1941, that fate had given us so long a time in which to prepare. We had started to rebuild the Navy and take an interest in the Army even before the outbreak of the European war in 1939; we then had a year of rearmament, with the war lessons before us, and another year thereafter of intense effort as the "arsenal of democracy." Yet we now have thousands of pages of depressing testimony to demonstrate that when Japan struck at Pearl Harbor we were almost totally unprepared; we lacked policies, staff organization, co-ordination, technical development and, above all, weapons. Almost everything had to be built from the ground up after Pearl Harbor on a staggering scale, which we had never envisaged. And the weapons and methods of 1941 were simplicity itself compared to those which the future will develop. Sound and thoroughly co-ordinate policy in the services, the committees, the departments and the White House is the only means through which we can meet with any adequacy the problems they will present. If we don't get on with it formulation now we never shall.

Gov. Hildreth Spoke

Told Prison Employees Why He Vetted Bill For Over Time Pay

Governor Horace Hildreth was guest speaker at the banquet of the Prison Chapter of the Maine State Employees' Association at Masonic Hall, Thomaston, Wednesday night. Introduced by Representative Roy Bell, he spoke briefly, dwelling largely on prison work and expressing his appreciation of the loyalty of prison employees to their duties and the State, as well as firm by correct treatment of the Prison inmates.

Preceding him was Harrison C. Greenleaf, Commissioner of Institutions, who extended his best wishes to the Prison Chapter and congratulated them upon the principles of their organization and assured them the co-operation of the State Department of Institutions in their problems.

The Governor congratulated Warden Jack Welsh on the administration of the Prison and stated that he had held the position as head of the institution longer than any of his predecessors.

He explained the reason for his vetoing a bill before last Legislature to allow overtime pay for institutional help, which had been introduced by Mr. Bell. He stated that the bill covered only the employees of the Prison, and three other institutions out of a total of 13 such institutions. In vetoing, he believed that such pay increases could be cared for through administrative sources rather than law and that it had been done to the point where the average wage scale of institutional employees of the state had been raised 41 percent since 1940.

He stated that he was making no apologies for his action, merely explaining his reasons for it.

At the close of the speaking program, the Governor and Mrs. Hildreth met the members of the association, their wives and guests.

Word comes from Portland that George W. Gow, Jr. is a patient at Maine General Hospital, his condition, causing much concern. He is a patient in Room 202.

The annual Junior Rubinstein Club program will be given Friday evening at 8 in the Universalist vestry. Parents and friends are invited to attend what promises to be an interesting evening. A silver collection will be taken, benefitting the junior club.

Rockland City Council

Whereas more than 50 countries since 1887 have joined for an inter-denominational, inter-racial and international service of prayer on a stated date; and

Whereas the date stated for the year 1946 is March eighth, the first Friday in Lent; and

Whereas problems at home and abroad today require for their solution, the best that is in us, aided as only prayer can aid;

I, Edward C. Moran, Jr., Chairman of the Rockland City Council, by authority of said Council, do hereby proclaim March 8, 1946, as World Day of Prayer in Rockland, and urge all who can do so to attend the prayer services to be held on that date, or, if that's not possible, to pause in their endeavors on that day to give thanks to God for our many blessings, with a prayer that we may so conduct ourselves individually as to bring to ourselves, and to do our part to help bring to the whole world, the Kingdom of God.

By authority of the Council,
Edward C. Moran, Jr.,
Chairman.

Councilman Jesse E. Bradstreet has been appointed to prepare information regarding the cemeteries of the city and see what action if any, is desirable relative to their operation. It has been pointed out that at present there is both municipal and private control over certain phases of the cemeteries; the Cemetery Association being private and the city controlling trust funds for care of private lots. A study of similar problems in other cities will be made in that Rockland may profit from their findings and present system of management.

Basketball fans are properly thrilled with next Wednesday night's game at Community Building, Coburn Classical Institute of Waterville will face Rockland High School's sensational basketball quintet. This will be what the fans have been praying for, a chance to see the local boys play in fast company, for Coburn is distinctly "big time," a leading contender in the U. of M. Tournament. The game is called for 7:30 and there will be a preliminary game. Incidentally every penny of the net will go to swell the popular P.T.A. Light Fund—a handsome gift from the basketball team.

To Rockland Women City Manager Gives Complete Version Of How Rockland Is Being Handled

The new City Council form of government was described in detail yesterday when City Manager Fred D. Farnsworth spoke to the women of Rockland in Masonic Temple yesterday afternoon. As he discussed the situation, phase by phase, he was given the keenest attention.

"There is, in the Rockland plan," said the speaker, "not only the privilege of the people fashioning their own laws as recommended to them by their City Council, but there is also the privilege for several groups of citizens, not otherwise connected with the city government, to actively participate in the functioning of several important divisions of the city government."

The Planning Commission has the vasty important task of planning for the future regulated growth of the city. Of dividing the city into zones for orderly development; industrial zones, commercial zones, residential zones, parks and playground zones, and unresidential zones.

The creation of a Board of Appeals as a complement to the Planning Commission again brings the democratic principle into play. This board is created to hold hearings on appeals from persons aggrieved by the application of regulations of the Planning Board, refusal of building permits, or other conditions.

The single assessor plan is, perhaps, the most outstanding departure from orthodox establishment that is to be found in the charter. While the single city assessor has the authority to make abatements of taxes for cause subject to approval by the director of finance, in order that again the citizen's rights shall be fully protected a Board of Assessment Review is created consisting of private citizens not otherwise connected with the city government, as is the case with all other boards and commissions mentioned here.

This board has the power and authority to review, on complaint of property owners, assessments made for the purpose of taxation, administer oaths, take testimony, and hold hearings. It is specified that the board make known its determination upon hearings within twenty days thereafter, and if the taxpayer is still dissatisfied with such determination he may appeal to any court of competent jurisdiction. Surely no right of any citizen is overlooked in the Rockland Plan.

"The City Manager," said Mr. Farnsworth, "is the chief executive officer of the City Government, and is responsible to the Council for the administration of all departments. He is the only chief executive in any form of government who is not elected by the people. Instead he is appointed by the elected representatives of the people, the Council; administers the city government under the policies adopted by the Council; provides the Council with technical and other information for the better determination of policies, and serves at the will of the people through the Council every day, in that he may be removed by the Council at any time for cause.

"No one should fail to realize that the local press has a greater influence upon the thinking of the people of the community in matters affecting local government than any other institution. The local press is close to us, knows the intimate things of the people of the community, and is in a position to quickly discern community needs.

"Rockland is fortunate in having a press that swings along with progress; a press that fairly offers the opinions of citizens in matters affecting their own government, and a press that does correctly interpret majority public opinion without prejudice, and works for the better understanding and the better life of the city."

Mrs. Abbie J. Trundy who spent the Winter with her daughter in Woodlyne, N. J., has returned to her home on Laurel street.

Mrs. J. N. Southard is slowly recovering from an illness which was at one time regarded as critical.

A well baby clinic will be held Monday afternoon at the District Nursing Association rooms. Dr. P. P. Brown, Jr., will be in attendance.

Anna E. Coughlin
Miss Anna E. Coughlin's appearance as speaker will feature the Tuesday night meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association meeting at the High School auditorium. Additional features will include selections by the boys' and girls' glee clubs and orchestra and a novelty dance by Phyllis Springer.

HERBERT L. LARRABEE
Herbert L. Larrabee, life long resident of 182 Camden street, died Feb. 23, after an illness which had confined him to his home for the past six weeks. Mr. Larrabee was the son of John and Margaret Jameson Larrabee and had lived until March 28 he would have reached his 85th birthday, an event his many friends were planning to celebrate.

Highly respected, genial, he will be greatly missed, but his many kindnesses he rendered to his associates and neighbors will be long remembered. Exceedingly interested in local affairs Mr. Larrabee, together with Mrs. Larrabee, enjoyed the distinction of being the oldest couple to serve at the local Observation Post during the war.

Mr. Larrabee was employed by the Rockland-Rockport Lime Company for over 35 years, retiring four years ago. He is survived by his wife, the former Catherine Roche.

The funeral was held Monday from his late residence, Rev. Archie Gillis officiating. Burial was in the family lot in Jameson cemetery. The bearers were Clarence Gray, Boynton Shadle, Alvenus Cross and Walter Upham.

This And That

By K. S. F.

Maine people are being urged to be more careful in packaging articles to go overseas to the armed forces, using metal, wood, fiberboard or double-faced corrugated protection, all wrapped in stout paper, to weigh not over five pounds. Parcels for army personnel overseas can be accepted only upon presentation by the sender of a written request from the soldier. Parcels may be sent to Navy personnel overseas without such a request.

A mother was lamenting having no tacks to stay her carpet and could not purchase any. Johnny went out and in a few minutes came back with a pocketful of tacks. "Why, where did you get them?" asked his mother. "I dug them out of the telephone poles where they have been used to tack up political stuff. There's more than a million of them if you want more."

Mexican Rice Pudding
Combine one cup cooked rice, one cup milk, one egg, well beaten, dash of salt, one-half cup sugar and one teaspoon cinnamon. Place half this mixture in a greased baking dish. Add one cup cooked, chopped prunes and top with remaining rice mixture. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) about twenty minutes or until nicely browned on top.

Now what do you think of this, Rep. Hale suggested lobster be used as a substitute for the meat shortage. He also said that an immediate increase in production of fish and other seafoods be encouraged and a plan worked out. This would help, he was sure.

Hats off! Here comes our banner! But more than the flag passes. Days of plenty, Years of peace—Justice, equal rights increase Strict duty from all classes.

Doctor: "I would recommend as the best thing for your nerves a sea voyage. Do you think you could manage it?"
Patient: "Well rather doctor I am a captain of a transatlantic liner."

Contrasting youth of different interests and observation powers, Rev. G. W. Hinckley of Good Will School writes: "I often recall the comrades I had on two fishing trips about 45 years ago. I drove from Good Will in Somerset County to a lake in Penobscot County. For a comrade on the first 27 mile horse and buggy trip I chose a youth of 16. My comrade was interested in everything he saw, and I just had to be—it was contagious. He saw a herd of cows—no they were not Jerseys; he could tell a Jersey as far as he could see it. They were not Ayrshires—he knew they were not; they were probably Herefords; yes, he bet they were. He saw a bittern flying, and it alighted in some reeds, and disappeared—no it could not hide, but it straightened up its long neck and held it there among the reeds as we passed in such a position that it looked just like another reed—a trick that herons and bitterns play in self-defense. He saw an ash tree by the roadside—first one we had seen on the journey—and later he saw another. And then he saw many ash trees growing in every direction, and later he informed me that we had got beyond where there were any ash trees. Two weeks later I made the trip again—the same horse and buggy, the same roadside, the same 'everything,' except my comrade. But my comrade was a different kind of youth. He saw nothing to talk about.

Umbrellas have had a curious history, and have ranged from tokens of caste to a wardrobe item exclusively feminine. In Egypt and Nineveh, the umbrella symbolized royalty. In India, the Maratha princes were known as Lords of the Umbrella, while in Burma the king used a white umbrella. The umbrella vogue reached America by way of Baltimore 170 years ago. All were the same—old linen stretched over a rattan frame. In those days, a man was never seen with one of the new contraptions.

Henry Ford's only child bought 40 acres of choice land in Seal Harbor's Ox Hill section in 1922 and built on it a luxurious, yet unpretentious, summer home commanding a magnificent view on Mount Desert Island and surrounding waters. "I have seen most of the beauty spots of the world," he once told an interviewer, "but this is the best of all."

Rev. J. Charles MacDonald was speaker at the Senior High assembly Tuesday, using as his subject "Sincerity." He told of the need of sincerity in school life, in home life, in dealings with our associates and with ourselves, and finally with God. Sincerity is most needed in one's religion, he said. He told many incidents and stories of insincerity, including humorous anecdotes, all of which helped to make his inspiring talk enjoyable and helpful. Joyce Wotton was in charge of devotions and Jack Passon introduced the speaker.

Work done last week by members of the Commercial Service Club included the mimeographing of 300 sheets of songs for the Kiwanis Club, 25 copies of the list of new policemen for Oliver Holden, chief of police; 1400 copies of the Kippy Carnival entertainment programs, 20 copies of a 2-page letter for Rev. Mr. Parry, addressed 3000 envelopes.

HOUSE-OF-THE-MONTH

The virtues of contemporary planning, epitomized in the grace and elegance of Regency design, renders The Colby all the resident features of comfortable living of this day.

The pleasing fenestration of this delightful home is enhanced by an exterior of painted white brick with wings and roof of asbestos shingling. The advantages of an attached garage, particularly convenient to the street, does much to fill out a pleasing facade and adds to the suitability of this home for practically any climate. The "four square" central unit of this type of architecture provides a maximum in space utilization so desirable in two story construction.

The sleeping quarters on the second floor are composed of three large bedrooms—each with cross ventilation and individual closets with the master bedroom boasting twin closets for "him and her." Access to the sun deck over the garage is possible from one of the bedrooms while the other sun deck over the living room may be reached from either of the bedrooms in the right wing of the house. Bath is convenient at the head of the stairs with linen closet appropriately located to serve this section of the home.

With a frontage of 43 feet, this delightful home extends to a depth of 28 feet. Both floors plus the partial basement occupy an area of 2,268 square feet or about 19,000 cubic feet.

Colored sketches depicting the artist's rendering of this house with complete sizes and floor plans are now available at Rockland Loan & Building Association. Detailed 1/4" blueprints, specifications, large posters and other material of interest pertaining to housing is also available for your inspection.

United States Apathetic

This country has just emerged from the greatest war in all history, the cost of which cannot be computed either in lives or suffering or money. Someone whose eyes rest upon these little articles must have lost a father, a husband, a son, or someone dear to them.

Amid the dislocation of a distressed world, with this country in greatest peril, what is desired most? Peace? Then let all in the name of God awake. This country, which is loved with a passion second only to that for Lord God, is low in its spirituality.

I have a neighbor desperately ill. Many times, day and night, the nurse puts her clinical thermometer into his mouth that she may measure the strength of his resistance. Let Americans listen to the delegation who attended the United Nations Organization which recently met in London. Let them watch the recordings on the chart of this conference; the spiritual thermometer shows America is "apathetic, lacking vitality."

John Foster Dulles, whose knowledge of foreign policy is unsurpassed, told the people, students and faculty at Princeton, on Washington's Birthday, that the United States is "apathetic" and may fail the world because the American people no longer have a great faith which moves them.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, also a delegate, says the social structure of Europe and the Far East has crumbled. At the Hotel Biltmore she told the young people of the Democratic party to be good citizens, and she asked, "Who is going to lead the world? You are going to lead it or it's not going to be led."

President Seymour of Yale University told a graduating class, "If this nation is to be delivered from the wrath to come, the American people must themselves provide the faith, and courage and the intelligence necessary to set the world in some sort of order."

One man of courage from the United States would have stopped the three vetoes of Russia. In failing spiritually, one fails God.

Cutter Snohomish Proves Herself To Better Ice-Breaker

The Coast Guard cutter, Snohomish, left port Wednesday on the annual task of breaking out the Penobscot River.

Replacing the old Kickapoo, which has been sold and reduced to the status of a construction company tug, the Snohomish is reputed to be much more powerful and capable of handling anything the Penobscot can offer.

Laying over at Bucksport Wednesday night, she hit 22-inch ice on the start of her task, with increasing thicknesses as she progressed.

Driven by diesel-electric power and carrying a crew of less than a dozen men, she is a much more economical craft for such duty than the Kickapoo with its steam engine and a crew of nearly 40 men.

Many a person in the up-river towns will feel that Spring is well on the way when they see the ice breaker at work.

Rockland Lions

Entertained By Sound Picture on Aviation—Ladies Night March 13

Organization of a feminine branch of the Rockland Lions Club was urged at Wednesday's meeting in a letter from the secretary of the Calais club. The matter was left to the board of directors.

Wednesday's attendance was the largest of the season, and included as a guest Harrison C. Greenleaf, Commissioner of Institutional service, who was the guest of E. Stewart Orbeton.

It was a case of "pass the buck" when it came to introducing the day's entertainer. Lion Howard Crockett turned the meeting over to "Kerosene" Allen, Kiwanian; and "Kerosene" promptly turned it over to E. J. Stevens of Portland who presented highly interesting "talkies" on the subject of aviation, in which Rockland now has a particular and personal interest.

Mr. Stevens showed the evolution of the heavier than air machine since the days when the Wright brothers made their initial flight at Kittyhawk, and showed how that development was temporarily stalled by the tremendous growth of automobile traffic.

"The year 1950 will see half a million planes in the air," said the speaker, "incredible if measured with the yardstick of the past."

The development of the modern flyers was shown in much detail.

Next Wednesday's speaker will be Lieut. Commander Harry Bartlett, USCGR of the local Coast Guard base, who will describe the work done by that institution in the way of air and sea rescue work.

Wednesday, March 13, will be observed as ladies' night, with a dance following the supper and entertainment.

Camden Snow Bowl

Famous Sled Dog Team There This Week-end—Outing Club's Growth

Sled dog rides for spectators, with the famous sled dog team of Chinooks owned by Perry Green of Warren, will be a feature of the Winter sports activities at the Snow Bowl this weekend. A ski and skating meet, as well as the usual skiing, skating and tobogganing are also planned, weather permitting.

Green plans to come to Camden to break a trail Saturday morning, and will be at the Snow Bowl Saturday and Sunday afternoon also. Perry's team of beautiful Chinooks is the only sled dog team of this breed in the world, all being descendants of the famous lead dog "Chinook" of Antarctic fame.

The ski tow will run this afternoon, Saturday and Sunday afternoon, if snow conditions continue good, and an inter-class meet is planned for Friday afternoon at the Snow Bowl by students at Camden High School. Skiing, skating and snowshoe races will be held starting at 2:30 p. m., under the direction coaches "Ted" Richards and "Dool" Dailey, both of whom have recently returned to positions on the Camden school staffs following release from the armed services.

Last weekend more than 500 Winter sports fans were at the Snow Bowl which is now open for the first Winter since the war started. Thursday evening a group of enthusiasts braved zero temperatures to enjoy a fish chowder supper served at the Lodge House before the big stone fireplace.

A total of 288 members were reported have joined the Camden Outing Club this year. Plans for the remainder of the season were made. It was unanimously voted to extend the use of the Snow Bowl area to the Y.M.C.A. and Scouts for boys camp in the Summer.

Among the volunteer workers at the Snow Bowl last weekend assisting Milford Payson, who is continuing to head up the work at the arena this Winter, were:

Given A Gold Watch

Lieut. Charles E. Winslow Honored On Eve of Retiring To Civilian Life

Lieut. Charles E. Winslow of Boothbay Harbor, commanding officer of the Coast Guard cutter Argo, was presented a gold watch and chain by crew members on Wednesday. The occasion was the relinquishing of command by this popular officer who returns to civilian life after an outstanding military record during the war.

Winslow, his crew and ship were in early on the surrender of Nazi subs following V-E Day, after having fought them all through the war on anti-sub duty. Capturing one crew, he quartered them below in every available space for the run to port.

When the Nazi sub commander complained of the treatment, Winslow drove him from the ship, when she docked, with a few well chosen words that only an enraged Yankee could think up; words that made the nation's press immediately, but in a much modified form.

Tom McKay and Robert Brown (formerly with the ski troops in Italy), both from Camden, Richard Dodge, Belfast and Edward Lynch, Thomaston (all having seen active service in the armed forces). Other volunteers included Bill Packard, ski tow; Mrs. Dora Packard, house committee, assisted by President Gene Rich of the Outing Club, Prudence Weaver, Barbara Carleton, Eddie Stanley, Paul Thorndike and Bernard Wheaton.

WEST ROCKPORT

Rev. Hammond J. Peterson of the Maine Bible Society in Portland will be the speaker Sunday morning at the church. An evening service will be held, also.
